ARREST OF GANDHI'S SUCCESSOR.

Situation in India Thought to Be in Hand.

ARMY LOYAL.

Viceroy to Arrange for Indian Conference.

In the House of Commons yesterday, replying to a question in regard to the situation in India, Captain Wedgwood Benn, Secretary for India, stated that he had the authority of the Commander in Chief of India (Field-Marshal Sir W. R. Birdwood, D.S.O.) who during his recent tour had seen very large numbers of Indian officers and had a long and intimate experience of the Indian Army, to say that he was entirely satisfied that the Indian Army was completely loyal.

The situation appears to be generally in hand. The arrest of Gandhi's successor, Abbas Tyabji, and a hundred volunteers, appears to have had a salutary effect, whilst in Peshawar the aerial demonstrations by British 'planes has dispelled any feeling that the Government's morale was weakening.

RAID ON SALT DEPOTS.

Jalalpur, Yesterday.
The trial of Tyabji and his 59 volunteers opened behind closely guarded doors.

Bombay, Yesterday.
The first of the salt depot raids was carried out by two batches of 75 volunteers each at Shirada. Four hundred maunds of salt were removed and purchased by the villagers. The police arrived half an hour later and arrested 100 volunteers.

Unlawful Assembly.

Later,
The trial of Abbas Tyabji and his volunteers has been adjourned to May 13. They are charged under Section 143 of the Indian Penal Code with forming an unlawful assembly with the object of breaking the Salt Act and committing various offences under the Penal Code.

Conference in London.

Simla, Yesterday.

The Viceroy has issued a statement emphasising that in spite of the disturbances, the Government is determined to abide by the policy he announced on November 1 last. Steps are being taken to arrange for the assembling of an Indian conference in London on October 20.

London, Yesterday.

In the House of Commons Capt. Wedgwood Benn announced that the first volume of the Simon Commission's report, (an historical survey) would be published on June 10, whilst the second volume, dealing with the Commission's recommendations, would appear on June 24.

Protecting Frontier.

Simla, Later.

The Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act, recently applied in Peshawar district, has now been extended to the entire frontier province.

Peshawar, Yesterday.

The Aerial demonstration against a small concentration under the eldest son of Haji of Turangzai in Mohmand territory, had a good moral effect. Some of the Mohmands are now hiding in caves.

Air Raid Near Peshawar.

London, Yesterday.

In the House of Commons in the course of a reply to requests for latest information in regard to India, Capt. Benn said that Haji of Turangzai, with followers, approached within 20 miles of Peshawar. He was definitely warned on May 10 to depart. He responded by blocking the high road with felled trees. An air raid was accordingly carried out yesterday. (Conservative cheers). The results were not known.

The Mill Strikes.

Bombay, Yesterday.

That the Bombay cotton mill industry is bestirring itself with a view to turning the present country-wide boycott of foreign cloth to the best account, was indicated in a statement by the Mill Owners' Association, stressing the desirability of organised price control in order that consumers will not be penalised as a result of the Swadeshi movement (to favour the use of Indian-made goods). In view of the present profiteering, the Association proposed that the prices which mills sell their goods should periodically be published and a sub-committee should

CURSE OF THE CAR.

Too Many Chauffeurs in Hong Kong.

'BUS DRIVER'S MOAN.

A Chinese motor bus driver employed by the Hong Kong Hotel who was sued this morning at the Summary Court before Mr. Justice J. R. Wood, said that there were too many chauffeurs in Hong Kong, and for that reason, motor drivers in the employment of the Hong Kong Hotel have had their wages reduced. His pay was $75 a month plus $10 for keeping his vehicle clean, but since the orange 'bus had come on the run, his and his colleagues' wages had been reduced. He was now getting only $65 a month and the $10 for keeping his vehicle clean had also been taken away from him.

Usual Practice.

The defendant was Ah Kwal, and he was sued by an Indian moneylender named Sawan for the recovery of $224. The actual amount lent to defendant was $100, but in accordance with the usual practice, defendant signed for double the amount. The $24 represented interest for six months. Defendant admitted the debt but claimed that he only owed two months' interest. Plaintiff did not wish to dispute that, and accordingly judgment for $208 was entered against defendant. Instalment of $7 a month was ordered.

ganisers are unable to restrain. It was accompanied by the efforts to strengthen the boycott of liquor shops and foreign goods, especially cloth. It must be understood all these activities are incidental to the general movement to stir up unrest and hostility to the Government. We have previously referred to the case with which excitement can be aroused in the towns.

The activities of the Congress have succeeded in producing in many large towns an atmosphere which easily leads to outbreaks of violence on such occasions as the arrest of important leaders. Prompt measures have in all cases been taken to prevent any local disorders; they have been brought rapidly to order and local effects have usually been transient.

Arrest of Gandhi.

The arrest of Gandhi, partly in consequence of careful precautions taken by the local authorities, has produced less disorder than might have been anticipated and probably less than would have taken place some weeks earlier. Sporadic riots followed his arrest but were serious only at Calcutta, Delhi and Solapur. In Calcutta they were of short duration and the authorities had little difficulty in exercising effective control. In Delhi they were more serious, but control of the situation was never lost and conditions are fast returning to normal. At Solapur, it is reported, three policemen were murdered under circumstances of extreme brutality. The situation, however, was reported to have been brought under control the same day. A company of troops were moved in rapidly from Ahmednagar and on May 9 the town was quiet. On May 10, however, there were further mob demonstrations and additional troops are being despatched.

A feature of the demonstrations following the arrest of Gandhi was the hostility shown towards the Police and Government officials. The hollowness of claiming that the movement is non-violent is becoming increasingly apparent. The military authorities have given most valuable assistance throughout and the spirit shown by the troops and the Police has been excellent.

Quiet in Peshawar.
In regard to the North-West Frontier Province, no rioting has occurred in Peshawar since April 23 and no opposition has been offered to the arrest of persons required by the Police, most of whom have been apprehended. The conditions in Bannu and Kohat Districts are disturbed and the seditious Meetings Act, which is already in force in the Peshawar District, is being applied to them. Haji of Turangzai still remains near the border of Peshawar District. Tribes generally are watching with interest the course of events in India and there are definite signs of unrest among

STOP PRESS

Washington, Yesterday.

A talking film recorded a remarkable function in the portico of White House before a gathering including President Hoover, Sir Ronald Lindsay, and Lord Derby, a Marine Band, led by Souza, played the latter's March dedicated to the Royal Welch Fusiliers.

The genesis of the occasion lies in the fact that the Welch fusiliers and American Marines stormed Tientsin during the Boxer troubles, a friendship then being formed between the two corps, a curious coincidence being that the foreigners in Tientsin while waiting for relief, were protected by a barricade of rice and sugar bags which were set in position by a young American engineer, who was then plain Herbert Hoover. The March and the film are to be presented to the Welch fusiliers by General Dawes, —Reuter's American Service.

Paris, Yesterday.

The French secret Police have arrested four members of a gang of international forgers—a Pole, a Russian, and two Roumanians—on a charge of forging Bank of England notes of 250 each, which have been circulating in Europe, America, and China and particularly in Shanghai. ## MOTOR ACCIDENTS.

Driver Fails to Report to the Police.

GIRL KNOCKED DOWN.

Two motor accidents occupied the attention of the Police yesterday.

The first occurred at 5 p.m., when Ho Sang (50), an oiler employed by the Tramway Co., was knocked down by a motor car whilst he was engaged in oiling the tram tracks in Arsenal Street.

The number of the car was not ascertained, as the driver drove on after the accident, and up to the time of going to press he had not yet reported the affair to the Police, as required by the regulations. The oiler received injuries which necessitated his removal to the Government Civil Hospital.

Chinese Girl Hurt.

The second accident took place at 8 p.m. in Queen's Road West near the junction of Water Street. The victim was a Chinese girl named Li Sham (6), who lives at 30 Second Street, West Point.

She was knocked down by a motor cycle combination driven by Mr. David Chan, of 8, Kennedy Street, and fractured her left thigh. Mr. Chan communicated with the Police who took the girl to the Government Civil Hospital, where, it was reported this morning, her condition may be serious.

den. He was standing alone near the wall looking into the street. In the accused's hand was a parcel wrapped in pink paper.

Mysterious Parcel.

The watchman approached the accused, and revealing his identity, said he wanted to search the parcel. Accused refused. The watchman then called his foki and the latter took the parcel from accused. He opened it and found 200 pamphlets inside.

Accused was taken to the Central Police Station and that same night was taken to his house in Queen's Road East where a search was carried out, but nothing was found. Accused claimed that the parcel was brought to him by another man who gave it to him on the roof, but the watchmen were positive that he was alone at the east end of the garden. Accused also said that this friend lived with him in Queen's Road East, but when the house was searched the man had already gone. The Police ascertained, however, that the man did live there.

The Sergeant concluded his statement by saying that he selected eight samples of the pamphlets and sent them to the S.C.A. to be translated.

Certified copies of the translations, pinned to the pamphlets, were put in by a Chinese translator of the S.C.A., and the Magistrate examined them closely.

"Two, Three, Four"

Evidence corroborating the Sergeant's statement was given by the District Watchmen, who both said that accused was alone at the east end of the roof. There was a large crowd drinking tea at the west end. After the discovery of the pamphlets, accused said repeatedly: "Two, three, four, west," but they did not know what he meant.

Accused's own statement from the dock was that he went with two friends to the Melchow roof to drink tea. As the west end was crowded, they went to a table at the east end. One of his friends was carrying the parcel produced in Court, and he left it on the table. As he observed that his stool was dirty, accused picked the parcel up to wipe the stool. Just then the watchman came up and his two friends ran away.

Said to be Student.

His Worship convicted, and having ascertained that there was nothing previously known against the accused, asked him how long he had been in Hong Kong.

Accused: Three months.

Magistrate: You claim to be a student, are you attending any school?—No.

Sergeant O'Donovan: He said he is a student, yet he has been here three months and not yet found a school.

REBELS SUFFER HEAVY LOSS.

YEN & FENG DECIDE TO SHIFT THEIR HEADQUARTERS.

LEFTISTS NOT WANTED.

Shanghai, Sunday.

On the receipt of news from the front of the defeat of Sun Tien-ying, Wan Tsun-tsai and Yueh Hsiang-yu, Yen Hsi-shan immediately wired Feng Yu-hsiang to remove his headquarters from Chengchow to Lanfeng, about 66 miles westward, on the Lung-Hai line, in order to facilitate operations. At the same time, Yen advised Feng of his decision to remove his own headquarters from Shihchiachuan to Tschow, on the Tsin-Pu line, where he will personally direct the campaign.

Sun Tien-ying, who, as previously intimated, invaded the north of Anhwei and in various engagements lost more than half of his troops, is now retreating to Yuip on the eastern border of Honan, with the National troops hotly pursuing him. The Kuomintang General, Sun Liang-ching, controlling the Lung-Hai line, with his headquarters at Kweih, has despatched an artillery regiment and machine-gun companies to Chih-cheng, which is situated mid-way between Kweih and Luip. This move is caused by the apprehension of the fall of Luip.

Two brigades under Sung Chih-yuan were despatched to Luip to reinforce the rebels under Sun Tien-ying.

Due to the outbreak of hostilities on the Lung-Hai line, Feng Yu-hsiang is reported to have decided to proceed to Lanfeng for troop inspection. He will also establish a commissariat at Chengchow with sub-stations at Chungman, Lanfeng, Kaifeng, and Lingning. It is learned that Feng has decided to open the campaign to advance eastward in four directions. The first route will be directed by General Chang Wal-shi; the second by General Sun Liang-ching; the third by General Pang Peng-hsun; and the fourth route by Sun Chih-yuan. General Lu Chung-lin has been appointed the C.I.C.

About 8,000 troops under Liu Kwei-tang and Kung Hao, who were formerly adherents of Tang Seng-chi, are stationed at Tsai-cheng, Tangho and Chungman. 15,000 troops under Wan Tsun-tsai are at Kaifeng and surroundings. Several thousands under Sun Tien-ying are at Luip and south of Kweih.

LOAD LINE.

Case Against Ship Master for Overloading.

WAS IT CHOPPY?

Capt. D. Thomas, master of the s.s. Tin Yaf, was this morning summoned before the Marine Court for allowing his vessel to be overloaded on the night of April 17. Mr. O. E. C. Marton appeared for the defence.

Boarding Officer Thomas Lowe said that he examined the load line of the Tin Yaf at about 9.30 p.m. on the night in question. Witness found that on the starboard side the load line was submerged seven inches and on the port side, at the central disc, the line was one inch below water.

Witness then went on board and informed defendant about it. Defendant sent the Chief Engineer down to make an examination and he agreed with witness that the load line was below water. Witness accordingly held up the ship until some of the cargo had been discharged. The vessel was, however, allowed to proceed on her voyage in the early morning of April 28.

Benefit of Doubt.

Cross-examined by Mr. Marton, witness said that when he told the defendant that his vessel was overloaded, defendant said some thing about his mean draught. Defendant said his draught was 10 feet 7 1/2 inches.

The water that night was not particularly choppy, although there might have been a difference of about three inches. He examined the load line by means of a torch, and had the water been very choppy, the invariable practice was to give the benefit of doubt to the ship.

Mr. Marton informed the Court that on May 10 the ship went into Kowloon Docks so that the load line might be examined by the Government Marine Surveyor. The result of the examination showed that the ship had a mean draught of 10 feet 8 inches from keel up. After corroborative evidence had been given, his Worship adjourned the case until Thursday morning and intimated that he would visit the vessel himself.

schemes to usurp more political power for themselves, Yen Hsi-shan, who now realises that he cannot any longer co-operate with them, intends to combine with the old Peiyang Militarism, a Great Alliance, in order to use the latter to check the duplicity of the Western Hill Cliques and Reorganisationists. The following members of the old Peiyang Militarists have been invited to participate by Yen—Chen Hsen-yun, Chang Chi-tan, Sun Ching-yun, Sun Chuan-fang, Wu Kwong-sin and Wu Pei-fu.

Marshal Chiang Kai-shek arrived at Tsinan on May 10 and was warmly welcomed by the inhabitants. Upon his arrival, he summoned Generals Chen Tiao-yuan and Han Fu-chu for the discussion of military affairs, and giving them personal instructions. In the afternoon, accompanied by the two generals, the President proceeded to Senchwang to inspect the 1st Army Corp. After the inspection, the high military officials were assembled when the President in a lengthy speech stressed upon the rebellion of Yen Hsi-shan to destroy the unification of the country, and for the freedom and independence of the country, the imperative need of eliminating men of Yen's calibre. The President concluded by praising the loyalty of General Han Fu-chu and inviting the other generals to follow the example set by General Han in order to achieve success in the cause of the Revolution.

The Kwangsi Campaign.
The Kwangsi insurgents under Mo Shu-chi assaulted Kowhong on May 8, which was guarded by one regiment under Chu Wai-chun. After a severe engagement lasting several hours, Chu evacuated Kowhong. At 4 p.m. of the same day the 68th Division under General Li Yang-king arrived with reinforcements and recaptured Kowhong.

Interviewed, Admiral Chan told Pressmen that the order of general offensive is expected to be issued at any moment. General Liu Chin-shu of Hunan is now attacking Kweilin, while the Yunnan troops are advancing

GROWTH OF SUGAR
BEET INDUSTRY.FROM 22,000 TO 320,000
ACRES.

A RECORD YEAR.

Since the sugar subsidy was introduced in 1924 the area under beet has increased from 22,000 acres to 320,000 acres, and the production last year, in terms of sugar was not far short of 300,000 tons.

If the sugar content proves to be as good in the coming year, Great Britain should produce something like 350,000 tons. These facts were mentioned at a luncheon of the British Sugar Beet Society, held at the Hotel Victoria.

Colonel E. Royle, who presided in the absence of the Earl of Yarborough, stated that in Lincolnshire and, he believed, in the rest of East Anglia, beet was the only crop grown on arable land which paid, and thus enabled many farmers, who would otherwise have been overwhelmed by their losses, to carry on.

Mr. L. S. Amery, M.P., who is chairman of the Sugar Federation of the British Empire, recalled that, when the war began, we produced no sugar of our own, and that our Empire supplies had dwindled to a bare 8 per cent. of our consumption. By progressive stages we had built up an important Empire sugar industry, and from 8 per cent. the figure had risen steadily till last year 34 per cent. of our raw sugar came from Empire sources.

In Britain a start was made by the remission of the duty on home-grown sugar in 1922, and the present system of subsidy was introduced in 1924. We were now among the great sugar producing countries of the world.

Residue Market. The rest of the world, continued Mr. Amery, threw its surplus sugar on what was called the world market, but what should be called the residue market, because prices ruling in that market bore no relation to the real price of sugar. No country could hope to save its industry unless special measures were taken to keep its standard above that of the residue market. While that position had gravely affected our sugar growing Colonies, it had not so far, thanks to the subsidy, seriously affected our own beet sugar industry at home.

Sir John Russell, Director of the Rothamsted Experimental Station, spoke of the need for more extensive production at less cost, in view of the termination of the subsidy in three years' time. Mr. V. A. Macdonald said that they had looked in vain for any encouragement in the present Finance Bill.

Pollution Problem. It was stated at the annual meeting of the British Sugar Beet Society, held at the Hotel Victoria earlier in the day, that although progress had been made in dealing with factory waste waters, the problem of river pollution had not yet been economically solved.

Mr. Alfred Wood, secretary of the Sugar Factories Committee of Great Britain, said that there seemed to be a widespread belief that the factories were accustomed to discharge process and other waters into rivers without treatment.

Actually, when every factory was built, a purifying system was installed. Unfortunately, the exceptional drought last season caused a serious setback and, in consequence, the factories found it impossible to do everything they would have wished for their neighbours who had fishing interests in the rivers, while at the same time maintaining the interests of nearly 70,000 workers.

The factories had now been able to advise the Pollution Research Board and the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries of a substantial advance in the methods to be employed during the coming season.

CIVIL WARS DEPLORED.

A meeting of the Currency Committee was held on May 8 when evidence was heard from Mr. Fung Kong-un, J.P., an importer and exporter of goods to and from China; Mr. Cheung Man-hing, Manager of the Sou Kat Bank, Hong Kong; Mr. Chung Tat-ching, representing the Chinese Gold and Silver Exchange Association and Mr. Tang Shu-kin, J.P., Manager of the Tang Tin Fuk Bank, Hong Kong.

Mr. Fung thought that trade depression in Hong Kong was due to the impediments put in the way of the Chinese purchaser by civil wars in the interior, and not merely to the glut of silver dollars in Hong Kong, though small traders did suffer because of the discount on these and it might assist if Government stopped their further importation. A Government note issue would not remove this discount and would be a costly undertaking to Government without any benefit to trade. The leading banks might remedy this situation in some way, if their efforts were not nullified by the operations of speculators who imported silver. He thought a gold standard would not benefit Hong Kong, so long as China used a silver standard. Restricted import of silver dollars by removing the discount and increasing their value might help to bring silver nearer parity with the bank note.

Silver Standard Good. Mr. Cheung thought that Hong Kong because of its geographical position and its function as a distributing centre must adhere to the silver standard until China abandons it. The note tended to displace the Silver dollar as currency because of its greater portability. Silver being cumbersome was disliked and discounted accordingly, thus hindering trade. The remedy he suggested was restriction of the minting and import of silver dollars or receipt by the note-issuing banks of unlimited quantities of silver against the issue of notes. He thought that Hong Kong currency should be brought to parity with silver and that the fluctuations in the value of silver hindered this.

More Notes Wanted. The Chinese Gold and Silver Exchange Association thought that the bank note currency in use in Hong Kong based on silver had been in the past advantageous to the Colony. At present the unsatisfactory feature was the use of dollars, the handling and shuffling of which being costly put them at a discount compared with notes. This hit small dealers who could not avoid receiving them and found difficulty in getting their creditors to take them in turn. The remedy the Association thought was that the note-issuing banks should issue more notes and absorb all silver offered. This together with restriction on the minting of silver would remove the premium on the bank notes. The drop in the price of silver by discouraging imports discouraged also indirectly exports as the one paid for the other, and so trade was brought to a standstill. Government should therefore endeavour to prevent the drop in silver. But otherwise it was not necessary to stabilise the value of the silver dollar as this would mean divorcing its value in the Colony from its value in China.

Premium on Notes. Mr. Tang thought it most advantageous to Hong Kong to remain on the same basis as regards currency in China and to use the silver dollar as legal tender. The unsatisfactory features of the present currency were the premium on notes and the discount on silver dollars, both of which hindered the free exchange of goods. Furthermore speculators were importing large quantities of silver dollars thus bringing about a glut of these and a growing preference in favour of the note.

TRAINING SCHEME.

Universities to Aid Business.

Amid the widespread discussion that has been taking place recently on the need for ensuring adequate recruitment of young men for the higher posts in industry and the responsibility of the universities to provide these recruits, it is interesting to know that a new scheme for this very purpose has just been launched.

AN AERODROME IN LONDON?

SUGGESTED THAMES
AERODROME BRIDGE.

AIR MINISTRY AND L.C.C.

Discussions have taken place between representatives of the Civil Aviation Department and of the London County Council on the subject of a site for an aerodrome near the centre of London. The great cost of utilising the roof of Waterloo Station—£5,000,000—was mentioned in Committee on the Charing Cross Bridge Bill—is regarded as prohibitive, and the Air Ministry view is that the solution of the difficulty may rather depend upon improvements in flying machines enabling them to ascend from limited areas.

After a recent trial of the Autogiro, a type of flying machine which ascends from a small aerodrome and can alight in a confined space, Sir Sefton Brancker remarked that it might be possible, by developing this class of machine, to fly from such a position as the Horse Guards' Parade to Croydon, whence the big air liners start.

The Air Ministry has not, in any case, contemplated giving up Croydon Aerodrome, but at the same time the great disadvantage to the air lines, due to the forty-five minutes' road journey to Croydon Aerodrome, is admitted. It is a handicap in the case of such short routes as London—Paris and London—Brussels, but it does not count much to travellers by air to Egypt and India.

If it were possible to use the Thames near central London as an aerodrome the problem would be solved. Experiments with flying boats and amphibian aeroplanes have been made in the Thames, but the fact that their operation has to be confined to certain states of the tide shows they would be severely handicapped. Moreover, the nearest stretch of water suitable for regular operation is some distance up river, and the saving of time therefore would be negligible.

The suggestion was made that it might be possible to construct across the Thames in London a great platform, or aerodrome bridge. This would be not less practicable than the floating islands for the Atlantic, of which one is actually being built in America.

The width of the Thames is sufficient to form one side of an aerodrome, and if the platform were about 800 yards long an aerodrome on which big machines could land would be formed.

Such a platform would be supported on piers, the waterway being safeguarded and illuminated. The construction would not be nearly so complicated or costly as that of the floating islands, and the cost, it was stated by an engineer, would not be by any means alarming. Revenue could be derived from the air lines and from rentals of buildings erected in association with the aerodrome bridge.

UNDERSELLING?

$2,500 Damages Against Newspaper.

Paris, April 10.

The long litigation between Francois Coty, owner of the "Figaro" and the "Ami du Peuple," and the National Federation of French Newspapers has ended in judgment against the "Ami du Peuple" for unfair competition through underselling.

The "Ami du Peuple" is sold for 10 centimes—that is only a farthing—instead of the usual 25 centimes. The Federation boycotted the paper, and having obtained the alliance of the distributing trades prevented it being sold in kiosks or shops. M. Coty responded by instituting his own sales organisation, which has met with marked success.

In granting $2,500 damages yesterday the Appeal Court made it clear that the chief offence of the "Ami du Peuple" was not underselling its rivals, but accusing the latter of profiteering.

CHALLENGE TO CENSOR.

INVITED TO SEE A BANNED FILM.

"We are challenging Mr. Edward Short, K.C., the Film Censor, to seek this film for himself, and we hope that he will clear up the apparent inconsistencies of his own examiners."

This statement was made by the London representative of Eclair-Frangois, the firm which made the film "The Queen's Necklace," when discussing with a reporter recently the banning of certain sequences in the film.

"The Queen's Necklace" was made in France. It purports to be an authentic account of the historical incident in which Jeanne de la Motte was publicly branded and whipped through the streets of Paris in the 18th century.

The French Government is so impressed by the value of the film that President Doumergue had it specially shown.

But the British Board of Film Censors refuse to license the film unless the scenes of the whipping and branding were expunged.

"This action of the board is com-

SUMMER PALACE.

To Let by Government of Peking.

CHINESE EMPRESS RECALLED.

Peking, April 23.

The splendid summer palace of the despotic Dowager Empress Tsu Hsi is now to let. An advertisement in an English-language newspaper here reads:

"To Let—Good houses in the summer palace, situated in beautiful surroundings; a few houses on the hill and a smaller number by the lake are available for immediate occupation. Apply city government of Peking."

The Empress ruled China as a despot for forty years and the summer palace was her pride. She diverted millions which had been raised for the Chinese navy to reconstruct the palace and thereby, according to some historians, enabled the Japanese to defeat China with ease in the Sino-Japanese war. It was in the summer palace that some of the most dramatic scenes in Chinese history were enacted.

For several months each year the Dowager Empress, with her puppet emperors, held court, with a brilliant following of ladies-in-waiting and courtiers. This

DISPUTE OVER "PLANET."

THEORY THAT IT IS A COMET.

Controversy is raging in astronomical circles concerning the character of the supposed new "Transneptunian planet" discovered by the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Arizona, U.S.

Among others, Professor A. O. Leuschner, of the University of California Student Observatory, declines to accept the body as a planet. He thinks it may be a large asteroid or a comet. He says that computations of mass made in his observatory indicate that "the object is too small to have caused the deviation in Neptune's orbit, which originally led to the suspicion that a Transneptunian planet existed."

Dr. V. M. Slipher, director of the Lowell Observatory, replies that the announcement of the discovery of a planet was not made until "Lowell astronomers were sure." The body, says Dr. Slipher, "has no cometary appearance. To-day we are more firm in our belief, in that all our observations and computations confirm the first announcement."

WHEN SOVIET STOLE $58,000.

LOOTED BRITISH EMBASSY.

VANISHED GEMS.

A Soviet theft of $58,000 was described to Mr. Justice Horridge in the King's Bench Division, when he considered points raised by the Crown by way of demurrer and answer to a petition of right claiming that sum.

The suppliant was Mr. Charles Herbert Bucknall, of Marles Road, Kensington, who before 1918 was for 30 years a dealer in precious stones in Petrograd.

Mr. Bucknall in his petition said that owing to insecurity of life and property in Russia in April 1918, he deposited with the British Consul, who was then in charge of the Petrograd Embassy, jewels to the value of more than $57,000 and bank notes worth $755.

In July, 1918, the Consul, Mr. Woodhouse, finding it difficult to obtain the necessary money to discharge his duties, and being unable to communicate with the Foreign Office by telegram, asked Mr. Bucknall to place the property at his disposal for his Majesty's service. Mr. Bucknall agreed.

On August 30, 1918, Mr. Woodhouse was arrested. Next day Soviet Government representatives arrested everyone at the Embassy. Afterwards it was found that the bag of jewels and money in a safe had been cut open and the contents taken. Mr. Bucknall claimed the return of the property or its value.

Mr. Justice Horridge, giving judgment, said the Crown succeeded under the Indemnity Act 1920, because he could assume that the necessary consent of the Attorney-General to the bringing of the petition had not been obtained. He entered judgment for the Crown, without costs.

LUXURY PLANS.

Smoking Rooms and Cocktail Bars.

Liners of the air as luxurious as liners of the ocean, are now in course of construction in London, says a Home paper in mail week.

As commodious inside as a Pullman car, and far surpassing any passenger aeroplane, they will contain a cocktail bar and a smoking-room.

Eight in number, these super-machines will form the "Hush-hush" fleet with which Imperial Airways will out-distance all competitors in the service to the Continent this Summer.

They are being built at Cricklewood by Messrs. Handley Page, Ltd., and the details of construction are being kept secret.

Each machine will carry 40 passengers, who will enjoy amenities never before provided in the air.

To the proud motto of "Safety First," which British aeroplane services have always borne, is now to be added "Luxury, Too."

The machines will be ready in about eight weeks and will be in operation within three months.

They are designed to cope with the tremendous increase in air travel from Croydon to Paris and will, undoubtedly, be most popular with women.

Stainless steel and duralumin are the materials used in the construction of the fuselages of the machines.

Four engines will drive these giants of the skies at an average speed of 100 m.p.h.

They will be by far the largest aircraft on any regular service in the world. The existing British machines of the largest type carry 22 passengers.

Although smoking is permitted on certain all-metal liners, these will be the first to have a special smoking-room.

CREATING THE ATOM

Chemist Offers Photos

New York, April 9.

Professor William Harkins, of the University of Chicago, states that, after seven years' painstaking experimental work, he has succeeded in building up an atom.

He made the announcement to a group of highly interested chemists attending the American Chemical Society's convention at Atlanta, Georgia.

The professor's proof consisted of two photographs of his process. This involved taking 34,000 instantaneous photographs of helium atoms moving at a speed of 11,000 miles a second at the moment of collision with atoms of nitrogen gas into which they were propelled.

When a helium atom struck a nitrogen atom at such a tremendous speed, Professor Harkins said, fluorine was formed for an instant which in turn explosively threw off an atom of hydrogen and left oxygen. The professor's success in changing substances traditionally unchanging in their chemical natures is considered remarkable.

He explained his accomplishment as "the synthesis of matter by impact."

WOMAN'S VAIN HOPE.

Suicide Burns to Death.

How baseless was a woman's hope of fortune was revealed at the resumed inquest at Waterloo, near Liverpool, on Susan Ellen Harrison, aged 63, of Clarendon Terrace, Beaumont Street, Liverpool, who committed suicide on Waterloo sands by setting herself on fire after pouring petrol on her clothes.

A verdict of suicide while of unsound mind was returned. At a previous hearing the evidence revealed that Mrs. Harrison had been expecting a fortune of £32,000 from

WOMAN'S ARREST IN LINER.

Miss Kathleen Hobbs, aged 34, of Walbrook Road, Putney, S.W., who arrived at Southampton in the Union-Castle liner Arundel Castle, was arrested on a warrant alleging the theft of jewellery valued at £1,000 from a house at Eastbourne last August.

She went to South Africa as a first-class passenger, but as a result of a wireless message she was not allowed to land, and returned as a third-class passenger.

Her father was waiting on the quay, but he did not see her.

SHIPPING SECTION.

COAL DISCHARGE AT BUENOS AIRES.

THE COMPLAINTS OF UNDUE DETENTION.

LOW FREIGHT.

For many years past a large number of South Wales steamers have been engaged in the River Plate trade, carrying Welsh coal outward and grain homeward. Not far short of 2½ million tons of coal were shipped from South Wales to the Argentine last year, which provided employment for a considerable number of vessels. In normal times this trade is a lucrative one, but recently the low freight rates, both outward and homeward, have combined to make it very difficult, if not impossible, to secure a remunerative round voyage.

The article appearing in the Journal of Commerce, relative to the undue detention of vessels at Buenos Aires has created much interest in South Wales shipping circles, inasmuch as shipowners, in these days of low freight rates, are naturally anxious to secure the utmost despatch.

Mr. R. H. Read, chairman of the Cardiff and Bristol Channel Shipowners' Association, and of the well-known firm of Messrs. Foster, Hain and Read, Ltd., interviewed on the subject, said: "There has been undue detention of vessels at Buenos Aires and other ports, and this subject has received, and is still receiving, the consideration of the shipowners' association. Buenos Aires is tidal, and vessels are sometimes compelled to wait for sufficient water, whilst there are other causes of delay."

"The article, says a shipmaster correspondent in the Journal of Commerce, is of interest, and I should like to read it in conjunction with the information we receive, as shipowners, from our agents at Buenos Aires. The suggestion as to the elimination, alteration or addition of certain clauses in the charter-party is also a matter which has been under the consideration of the association for some time. There are certain revisions to be made in the Welsh Coal Charter-party, and shipowners are naturally very keen to reduce avoidable detention of vessels, the subject constantly engaging the attention of the association."

Difficulties. Another Cardiff shipowner said: "There is undoubtedly considerable avoidable detention of vessels at Buenos Aires. This matter has been under the consideration of shipowners, but there are difficulties in the way of redress, and strong representations should be made to the port authority, which, I believe, is the Government. About fifteen years or so ago there were loud complaints as a result of the detention experienced at Rio Grande do Sul due to the bar that then existed. As a consequence of vigorous representation to the State the bar was removed, which resulted in considerable advantage to shipowners."

"There is, at times, an accumulation of mud on the east side of the South Basin of Buenos Aires, and strong representation by shipowners to the Government of the State would undoubtedly result in this area being periodically dredged. But there are causes other than that of mud accumulation which are responsible for undue detention of steamers at this port, and these matters, I am given to understand, are under the consideration of the shipowners' association."

With respect to the question of undue detention of steamers discharging coal at Buenos Aires, Captain Barton, marine superintendent of the Derwen Shipping Company, who has had long practical experience at Buenos Aires, states that his firm has received no reports of undue detention of steamers at that port. He states that clause 15 of the charter-party distinctly states that vessels in excess of 20 feet draft arriving at Buenos Aires have to pay lighterage expenses if unable to discharge at the pier. If vessels are sent above 20 feet draft then owners are themselves to blame for detention and expenses incurred.

The suggestion to eliminate clause 15, he said, is one for shipowners, and the Documentary Committee of the Chamber of Shipping to decide, and naturally this predicated mature deliberation. The Welsh coal charter, which contains this clause, will be undergoing revision shortly, it is stated, and an opportunity will then be given to deliberate on whether the clause should or should not be deleted.

LINER STOPS TO SAVE A DOG.

STEAMS BACK FOR HALF AN HOUR.

ANIMAL FOUND ALIVE.

The humanity of Captain A. W. Turton, commander of the 6,000-ton Clan liner Clan Macnab, in turning his ship round in mid-ocean to save the life of a foxhound bitch which had fallen overboard was reported by a friend of the captain.

The liner was carrying a number of valuable foxhounds from Liverpool to Bombay. "When the vessel was crossing the Bay of Biscay," stated Captain Turton's friend, "this particular hound was exercised as usual round the deck and then tied up on the after-deck."

"About 8 a.m. she was missed. A search was made, but the hound could not be found, and it was concluded that she must have slipped her collar and been lost overboard."

"When the loss was reported to the captain half an hour later, he turned his ship round and steamed back the estimated distance travelled since the mishap, plus an extra mile."

"The hound was not sighted and the vessel resumed her course." The hound was then sighted a short distance away right ahead. A boat was lowered and she was hauled aboard, exhausted. She recovered after a few hours' attention, however.

EAST ASIATIC CO.

Profitable Shipowning

"The working results of the ships can be described as satisfactory; this is mainly attributable to economy in running and the earning capacity of motor ships."

This extract from the report of the East Asiatic Co. dealing with last year's working has added force when it is recalled that it concerns a period of falling freights and increasing depression. The company was able to pay a dividend of 10 per cent., as has been the case for many years past, and this, favourable result, in conjunction with the fact that since the war the East Asiatic Co. has been almost wholly a motor shipowning concern, can scarcely be ignored.

The present fleet comprises 21 motor vessels and three steamers, totalling 213,961 tons d.w., with a book value of approximately £2,050,000, or about £9 12s. per ton, deadweight.

The shipping profits amounted approximately to £450,000, and although the company has wide trading interests besides shipping, it is mainly on its ocean transport that it depends for its earnings. Few owners, indeed, have been able to pay 10 per cent. for several years past and it would be idle to say it is a mere coincidence that this satisfactory return is associated with a firm which has pinned its faith wholly to motor vessels.

Incidentally, the remarkable success of the East Asiatic Co., which, as shipping concerns go, is not of great age, calls for a tribute to the chairman, Mr. H. N. Andersen, who has built it up from the smallest beginnings by the exercise of a degree of courage and foresight rare even in the shipping industry, which is not able for its men of enterprise and vision. It would be difficult to say how much the motor ship movement owes to Mr. Andersen, who first took the bold step of ordering a motor ship when no other shipping company would consider such a project.

GLADSTONE DOCK.

Improved facilities for the storage and handling of timber upon the area of land to the north of the Gladstone Graving Dock, Liverpool, are to be supplied by the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board. A scheme of lay-out has been approved to provide road and rail avenues upon the ground, making what is anticipated to be a convenient and economical improvement to the advantage of the timber trade generally. The engineer has estimated the cost of the improvements at £3,222, and his plans and recommendations have been adopted by the Board on the recommendation of the Works Committee.

TO SALVAGE HULKS OFF PORT ARTHUR.

JAPANESE ATTEMPT ON VESSELS SUNK IN WAR.

25 YEARS AGO.

Dairen, May 1. An attempt to refloat Russian and Japanese men-of-war sunk outside Port Arthur during the Russo-Japanese War will be started this month by Rear-Admiral Fukui (retired), of the Japanese Navy. The Admiral has obtained a concession from the Japanese government for the work and will probably start with the Russian cruiser Sebastopol, which lies in comparatively shallow water.

The hulks of four Japanese and two Russian men-of-war have lain on the bed of the ocean off Port Arthur for 25 years, but Admiral Fukui believes they will be well worth salvaging. The wrecks probably will be dynamited on the bottom and lifted in sections. A new type of electrically-operated air-compressor invented by the Admiral will be used in the operations.—United Press.

STOWAWAYS.

Empress of Canada Case.

A POINT OF LAW.

An interesting point was raised this morning before Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy, when seven Chinese appeared, charged with stowing aboard the s.s. Empress of Canada, on her outward trip on May 9.

The stowaways were discovered one day out from Hong Kong, in the steerage quarters, and were thereupon carried to Manila, and brought back on the ship.

After hearing the evidence, His Worship was about to convict, when the Master-at-Arms of the ship made an application that a portion of the money found upon the defendants be applied to paying the passage money.

His Worship stated that he must look up the legal points on the case, and accordingly remanded it until to-morrow morning.

On the Cremer. Two stowaways who were found on the s.s. Cremer, on the run from Singapore to Hong Kong, were fined $50, with the option of one month's imprisonment. Brief evidence was given as to their discovery, after which the Magistrate convicted.

NEW FAR EAST SERVICE.

YOU'LL FIND YOUR FOOD TASTES BETTER!

There's a big difference in the taste, as well as in the nutritive qualities of food that has been kept fresh and wholesome in a well-iced refrigerator, and food that has been subject to the changing temperatures of pantry shelves etc.

Whenever perishable foods are kept in temperatures warmer than 50 degrees they begin to lose their food values, even before they show any signs of spoiling. And they also lose much of their flavours.

Keep your food always in a well-iced refrigerator. It is the only safe way. Ice costs little but it will add much to your enjoyment of food, and it will safeguard your health. You need ice every month in the year.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS.

In envisaging Kowloon as in many respects similar to Province Wellesley, with its rude hamlets and ramshackle huts of three decades ago, His Excellency the new Governor may find a happy companionship with another newcomer who imagined Hong Kong to be built on a steep cliff with not one yard of roadway below beyond a wharf alongside which ships could land passengers and cargo.

In both cases the reality undoubtedly came as an agreeable surprise. If it was a surprise on the one hand to find a great busy city, with some of the most solid buildings in the Orient erected thereon, on level ground, it must have been equally pleasing to find instead of a replica of Province Wellesley, opposite the Settlement of Penang, a large and prosperous-looking town, large docks, and one of the best hotels in the East. The prospect as viewed from a motor car en route from the Star Ferry to King's Park must have created first impressions on the new Governor of a very favourable nature. That is all to the good, even though there is much else of a less pleasing nature that he may yet see during his visits to the mainland. He may not in the course of time conclude that, so far as Kowloon is concerned, "every prospect pleases and only man is vile."

It need not necessarily dampen the ardent spirits of those who make Kowloon their home and who sing its praises and urge its causes day in and day out to point to the other side of the picture. There are, for example, the ravages of malaria to be tackled most earnestly; there are millions of mosquitoes that make life in Kowloon absolutely unbearable, not alone on the outskirts but within what is termed the residential area for Europeans. There are congested districts that are a blot on the name of the Building Authority and of any Town Planning body that may be in existence unknown to the general public—congested areas lending themselves to a ruthless mortality from tuberculosis. There is a lack of symmetry in the lay out of tenements and other buildings in the main artery leading to Castle Peak and "more far," which attract every visitor who comes to the Colony. There are long rows of ugly and dilapidated Chinese flats with verandahs full of linen of varying stages of cleanliness and decay. There is no proper residential reservation for Europeans. There is no adequate system of playgrounds for the children. There is one of the worst 'bus services in the whole of the East. There are untidy and unkempt timber yards cheek by jowl with the newest thing in flats. There are boulders and logs scattered all in front of building sites in the main thoroughfares. There are innumerable lanes and alleys that simply stink all day and all night long. And one area is the reputed haunt of all the bad characters, thieves, and desperadoes of the whole Colony.

All these things, and much more, the critic would find were he honest in his description of "modern Kowloon." All these things it is the endeavour of the Kowloon Residents' Association to end or at least ameliorate. And all these things must be the concern of any Government that truly has the welfare of the governed at heart. Little will be gained by merely talking of "prosperous Kowloon" and leaving it there. There is solid work ahead of the Government. There is an uphill battle for those imbued with the civic spirit to fight. But, as we indicated in this column yesterday, there is no reason to be dismayed. Given a Governor and given Government Departments charged with the right spirit there is a hope that the Kowloon of ten or fifteen years hence shall be a veritable Paradise compared with the Kowloon of to-day.

KING'S BIRTHDAY.

His Excellency the Governor and Lady Peel are holding a reception at Government House on June 8 at 9.30 p.m. in honour of His Majesty the King's Birthday.

CORRESPONDENCE

SIR W. PEELE'S APPRECIATION.

[To the Editor of the "China Mail."] Sir,—I enclose herewith copy of a letter I have received from The Hon. Colonial Secretary, by direction of H. E. The Governor, and I shall appreciate it very much if you would be so kind as to publish it in your newspaper so that the public can read it.

Yours etc.,

W. E. L. SHENTON.

Hong Kong, May 12.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Hong Kong,
May 12, 1930.

Sir,—

I am directed by His Excellency the Governor to convey to you personally, and through you, to the members of the Public Reception Committee and the people of Hong Kong, His Excellency's most sincere thanks for the warm welcome accorded to himself, and Lady Peel, on the occasion of their arrival in the Colony.

I am further to state that His Excellency has received with very much pleasure the address of welcome and in thanking you for it, he wishes to express his admiration of the skilled craftsmanship which engrossed the address, and designed and executed the handsome casket in which it was contained.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Sd.) W. T. SOUTHERN,

Colonial Secretary.

The Honourable,
Mr. W. E. L. Shenton,
Chairman, Public Reception Committee,
Hong Kong.

CURRENCY.

[To the Editor of "China Mail"].

Sir,—This question has of late brought forth views from many persons, among those, those of the Chinese Bankers' Association and Mr. Paterson are more tenable. On the question of stabilisation alone, some were for and some against it, but it requires no stretch of imagination to view with alarm its adoption because of trade being driven to China.

It is regrettable that none has so far gone into the problem at all fully as its importance demands, and the signal failure to grasp or appreciate it intelligently has been, I must emphasise, due to no regard having been given at all to men's mind by which it is so much affected; for Hong Kong Currency has undergone many peculiar aspects which are noticeable if they have been closely watched, and it will spring a great surprise to many and even the Committee of Inquiry appointed by the Government to learn that from a premium, Hong Kong banknotes had its position reversed only in 1919 and suffered a discount.

Mr. Paterson said he could assign no reason for the premium, but as every cause must have an effect which the premium undoubtedly is, there must be a cause which must be determined. In short this problem is, as I said in my article of the 17th April last, very complex, and for this reason it requires to be treated exhaustively. The origin and cause of premium, notes issue by the Government, and men's mentality were some of the grounds fully covered in my lecture which applies with equal force to the currency problem of to-day as it applied to that obtaining then and which I shall be glad to show to the Committee of Inquiry (as some papers suggested I should) if any of its members will kindly intimate to me its desire, and my failure to do so was that I was afraid I was out of time as the notification appearing in the papers, limited the time till April 14 last.

The following are my answers in brief to the terms of reference (a) In the affirmative. (b) Premium (or it may yet become discount). (c) Two ways, namely failing according then by legislation. (d) (1) Premium is detrimental to the prosperity of the Colony (2) same as (c). (e) Present currency satisfactory. (f) In the negative.

Yours, etc.,

J. M. XAVIER.

Kowloon May 12, 1930.

UNION CHURCH, HONG KONG.

[To the Editor of the "China Mail"].

Sir,—The Ladies' Committee of this Church desire, through the medium of your columns, to thank the many friends who, by contributions of clothing, etc., or by support in any other way helped to make our Jumble Sale the success it was.

As the result of last Friday's sale, we have been able to continue our generous donations to the usual home charities.

Yours, etc.,

Mary Hamilton,

Hon. Secretary.

Ladies' Committee.

Hong Kong, May 12.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

COMMENT ON COMMERCIAL AGREEMENT.

CONSULS IN INDO-CHINA.

Paris, Yesterday.

According to a clause in the Commercial Agreement between China and Indo-China, allowing for the establishment of two Chinese Consuls, one in Saigon and another in Hanoi, Le Journal writes:—"We ought, however, to see that these Chinese consulates do not become centres of anti-French propaganda. We should also survey the revolutionary propaganda which aims at keeping control of Chansi (Hanoi?), and it is precisely this decision which has delayed for a very long time any agreement. "Our duty is to maintain control which is absolutely indispensable, and we must definitely know what happens throughout our territory and treaty States, and also the consolidation by long lease by which some Frenchmen make a profit in countries neighbouring on Tonkin."—Havas.

END OF STRIKE.

Buses & Trams Resume in Shanghai.

CONCESSIONS GRANTED.

Shanghai Yesterday. Traffic difficulties, following the patri bus and tram strikes were appreciably reduced this morning, when the tramway men returned to work and commenced operating trams on all the customary routes. As a result of agitators' efforts, however, the services in the Eastern District were later put out of action, but early resumption is expected.

It is understood that the Tramway Company has granted certain concessions to the strikers, thus paying the way to an agreement. But services have not yet resumed, though a skeleton service is being maintained.—Reuter.

PERSIAN 'QUAKE.

Death Roll Nearly 3,000.

Teheran, Yesterday. It is now believed that the death roll in the Persian earthquake is nearer three thousand than two thousand. The shocks are lessening at Tabriz, but are still very severe round Salmas, which is inaccessible by road, as a new rift, two miles across, has formed between there and Urmiah.—Reuter.

RUBBER.

No Legislation in the Straits.

Singapore, Yesterday. With reference to the recent voluntary agreements among various Malayan rubber planting bodies to restrict tapping, the Straits Government states that it will not legislate in this connection unless a unanimous request is strongly pressed by the bodies controlling the industry.—Reuter.

BANDITS BUSY.

15,000 People Put to Death.

Peking, Yesterday. A foreign report from Hankow states that 3,000 to 4,000 bandits have captured Yunyang, on the Honan-Hupeh border, and have ruthlessly slaughtered 15,000 people and carried off 500 hostages for ransom, also looting and burning the surrounding neighbourhood and destroying whole villages.—Reuter.

CHEUNG CHAU NOTES.

[From Our Own Correspondent.] Cheung Chau, Yesterday.

The local Dragon Boat race was held as usual in the harbour and was as keenly contested as in former years. The boats have been paddled out some distance and then raced full speed for the pier. Crowds of Chinese spectators took up positions on convenient sampans and junks beside those on the Pier and the Bund.

The next sporting event will be the annual meeting of the local school.

Preparations are being made for the third theatrical performance, the big match near the Fishermen's Temple being reconstructed.

The Rev. C. J. Lowe and his two daughters got down the river safely from Kwelin. They had a guard of soldiers over one section that has a particularly bad reputation for robbers.

There were two week-end parties at House 18 and 28.

Ten Years Ago

[From the "China Mail," May 13, 1920.]

To-day's dollar is worth 4/- 1¼d.

Volunteer Elections.—If we have been asked once we have been asked a dozen times—When are you going to show up the Volunteer elections? Our answer was, of course, that when we heard of anything needing exposure, we would expose it. What had happened? They were shy about telling us, preferred that we get it from some one else. Worms. We haven't time to waste on digging out information from reluctant witnesses like a girl extracting wrinkles with a hairpin. We hear that all the Government servants interested were handed typewritten instructions how and for whom to vote. Is that true? Who was responsible?

LIFE SAVING.

Classes in Swimming
Now Being Taken.

LAND DRILL.

With the advent of the swimming season, the public bathing beaches are open and the Royal Life Saving Society has again started classes in life saving at sea. Already many are taking lessons in what is known as land drill, preparatory to trying out the movements in the water.

The Police are well represented in the classes which are held practically every day of the week, and the numbers of members of various sections of the Force who are taking the course are: Europeans 21, Indians 13, Cantonese 5, and Shanghai 4.

The classes are held under the direction of Police Sergeant R. J. Hunt, who was recently appointed local representative of the Royal Life Saving Society. The classes are under the instruction of Sergeants Biffin, Fell, and Howarth, and the Indian Drill Corporal, who passed the course last season and are now qualifying for certificates as instructors.

Tests Next Month.

Examinations in land drill will take place at the Police Gymnasium at Headquarters on May 26, 27, 28 and 29 after which the candidates will be tested in the water early next month.

Yesterday afternoon a China Mail representative watched a class of Europeans being put through their paces in the Police Gymnasium, and very efficient they were. The class was composed mostly of Police Officers, but also included Lieut. Howard and three men of the Somerset Light Infantry.

The course included five methods of rescue, depending on the position in which the drowning man is found when approached by the rescuer, and three methods of release by the rescuer of the holds of the desperate drowning person, namely, clutching the rescuer by the wrist, throwing of arms round the neck, and embracing round the body with the arms pinned to the sides.

After the rescue, the Schaffer method of reviving the half drowned man is applied.

There is no gainsaying the advantage of every swimmer knowing what to do in an emergency, and it is recommended that all should avail themselves of the instructions offered

ROUND THE CINEMAS

"Madame X" at the Queen's.

GREAT CAST ASSEMBLED.

"Madame X", one of the most famous plays of the speaking stage, is coming to the Queen's Theatre to-morrow as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest all-talking drama of the screen.

Directed by Lionel Barrymore, it features Ruth Chatterton, famous stage star, in the heroine's role, with Lewis Stone as the husband and Raymond Hackett, of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," as the son and defence attorney.

A huge cast appears in the production, in which the adventures of the heroine all over the world are shown in a series of lavish settings.

"THEY HAD TO SEE PARIS."

Teamed with Frank Borzage, who transferred Homer Croy's widely read story, "They Had To See Paris", Fox Movietone all talking drama to the screen, was Bernard Steele, the well known stage director. Steele has played in stock companies, both dramatic and musical, and has been a successful producer. His friends call him the Balcon of stock.

Steele admits one excursion into the motion picture industry before going to Hollywood to stage direct productions for Fox Movietone. He was an assistant to Barry O'Neill of the Lubin Cinematograph in Philadelphia for a time.

Will Rogers portrays the leading role in "They Had To See Paris", the Queen's Theatre's current attraction, and the supporting cast includes Marguerite Churchill, Fifi Dorsay, Owen Davis, jun., Irene Rich, Ivan Lebedeff and Relfix Bell.

ed by the Royal Life Saving Society.

Not Difficult.

The course, while strenuous, is not difficult to learn, and the only requirement of one desirous of learning is that he should be able to swim 100 yards, breast stroke, 50 yards on the back without the use of the hands, and do a surface dive of 10 feet. It must be emphasised that the dive must be from the surface of the water and not a plunge in.

Anyone interested should communicate with Sergeant R. J. Hunt, care of Police Headquarters.

LUNDY ISLAND.

Owner Held to Be Within the Realm.

Mr. Martin Coles Harman, owner of Lundy Island, in the Bristol Channel, was charged at Bideford (Devon) with unlawfully issuing "as a token of money a piece of metal of the value of one halfpenny contrary to the Coinage Act, 1870."

Mr. H. R. Bazeley, for Mr. Harman, submitted that the island was for all purposes outside the realm and that therefore the bench had no power to deal with it. He said:

"No rates or taxes of any kind are paid, and whatever levies are made, are made by the owner himself. There is no such thing as a register of births or deaths or marriages, and no inquests beyond an inquiry which the owner might make."

Mr. G. R. Paling, for the Director of Public Prosecutions, asked if the Crown had no jurisdiction why was it that residents on the island were asked to and did vote?

Sir Hugh Stacey (the chairman) said the Bench was convinced that it had jurisdiction.

Mr. Harman thereupon left the court with his solicitor. When he was ordered to remain until the conclusion of the case he declined to acknowledge the jurisdiction of the court and refused to plead.

The Bench fined Mr. Harman 25 and 15s. costs.

SHOT POET'S LETTER

Russian's Message to Woman in London.

"The boat of love has been wrecked against life."

This is the first line of a short poem attached to the letter written by Vladimir Mayakovsky, a leading Russian poet, shortly before he shot himself at his home.

In the next room, apparently not suspecting the intention of the poet, sat Veronica Polonskaya, an actress of the Moscow Art Theatre.

Mayakovsky's letter mentions the actress and Mrs. Lillia Brik, wife of a leading Russian writer. Mrs. Brik, it is understood, is at present in London.

Mayakovsky's last act before he committed suicide was to put aside 2,000 roubles (nominally £200) for the payment of taxes. The letter he left contains these passages:

Do not blame anybody for my death and please do not gossip. Lillia—love me.

NAPOLEON'S BODY.

Tourists and Doctors Bother Tomb Guards.

N. Reynolds Packard, Special Correspondent, United Press, writes from Paris on April 23:—

Only twenty-five people have ever seen the dead body of Napoleon since his burial at Saint Helena in 1821 although hundreds of scientists and thousands of tourists request to see the remains every year. Colonel Pol Payard, a director of the Invalides and one of the greatest authorities on the little Corsican general, informed the United Press, in an exclusive interview.

"Scientists and historians are constantly demanding permission to see the body of Napoleon, now dead for more than 109 years," said Colonel Payard. "Many of them want to confirm whether he died of cancer or Malta fever while others are anxious to study his brain in an effort to discover the physiological secret of his military genius. On the other hand, there are large numbers of morbid tourists who want to return home and be able to say that they have seen his body."

Cercoete on His Corpse.

"It is naturally impossible now for anybody to have even a glimpse of Napoleon, for his body is sealed hermetically in six massive coffins. One is made of zinc, one of mahogany, two of lead, one of ebony and one of oak. Then, too, Napoleon was not embalmed at Saint Helena simply because there was no material on the island at the time of his death. Only some cercoete was sprinkled on his corpse and undoubtedly there would only be a skeleton and the dusty bits of his uniform left, and nothing more."

Referring to the twenty-five people who have had a glimpse of the body, Colonel Payard explained, "Napoleon was first buried in the Slave Valley of Saint Helena in a vault of ashlar and Roman cement, held together by cramps of iron and closed with flat slabs of stone and layers of pebbles. Here he rested for nearly twenty years, until he was exhumed in 1840. It was then that twenty-five officially appointed delegates witnessed the opening of the coffin so as to make sure that it contained the real remains of Napoleon. These witnesses, British and French, numbered twenty-five."

Two Minutes Glimpse.

"The actual glimpse of the corpse lasted no longer than two minutes," continued Colonel Payard, "but this was long enough to show that decomposition had already set in. He was clad in the uniform of a colonel with a green coat, breeches of white kerseymer and heavy army boots. His cocky little hat rested on his knees while on his breast were the already mouldy decorations. His knife and fork and metal plate were buried with him while bits of money stamped with his effigy, were scattered on the white satin padding."

"His heart, which had been put out at the time of his death for the autopsy, rested in an urn in the bottom of coffin. A gilt sponge-box beside it contains the stomach which had been examined immediately after his death to prove that he had died of cancer of the pylorus."

us. The documents of this autopsy are still in the Invalides and confirm beyond the shadow of a doubt that he did die of cancer the same as his father did before him."

In conclusion Colonel Payard said, "Any tales about his body being examined since 1840 are merely fanciful tales and we French will never permit the desecration of his body even in the name of science. One of the most fantastic tales was printed some time ago by American newspapers. This purported that Napoleon was carried away from Saint Helena in 1819, while still alive by an expedition, fitted out in New Orleans by an adventurer named Lafitte. Napoleon died on board ship and was buried near New Orleans while a double, it was alleged, replaced him on the island. Needless to say this story is most absurd."

from Posh to Nanning. Colonel Kim Yin-nan is now directing the Cantonese fleet at Konghow. C.I.C. Chan Chai-tong, accompanied by Admiral Chan Chak, left Wuchow on May 11 on the gunboat "Kin Yu" for Konghow, personally to direct operations.

According to a wire sent to the Nanking Government by General Chu Shao-liang of the 6th Route Army, the main body of the Ironsides-Kwangsi-ites are now entrenched in the mountains in the vicinity of Kweiping. That order has been given to the 8th and 50th Divisions, and the 3rd Independent Brigade to besiege Kweiping, with the aid of the planes and naval forces.

Ironsides Remnants.

Chairman Ho Chien of Hunan telegraphed to President Chiang on May 10, saying that the remnants of the Ironsides-Kwangsi-ites were attempting to escape to Lingning in the south of Hunan and that Generals Liu Chin-shu and Chen Kwong-chun had been instructed to intercept them.

The mutineers under Tang Seng-ming, who invaded Yung-chung, were repelled by the Hunan Division under Chen Kwong-chung, resulting in the capture of several hundred of rifles. The mutineers have retreated to the Kwangsi border, while the main body of the Hunan loyal troops are pushing towards Kwangsi.

RAIN v. TOURISTS.

Woodfull and Bradman's
Good Partnership.

NOTTS FULL POINTS.

Sheffield, Yesterday.
Rain fell overnight and during the morning, thus necessitating a late start of the game between Yorkshire and the Australians.
At lunch time the rival captains inspected the pitch, but it was not till 2.15 p.m. that the game was continued.
The Australians at the close of play on Saturday were 86 runs behind Yorkshire's first innings' total with nine wickets in hand.
As the result of quick scoring, 274 runs were on the board at the ten interval for the loss of six wickets.W. M. Woodfull and Don Bradman again participated in a productive partnership, the former scoring his second century of the tour, making 121 in four hours and hitting 12 boundaries, and the latter 78 including 7 boundary hits.Don Bradman, at his present rate of scoring, may well gain the distinction of scoring 1,000 runs in May. At the moment, so far as we can tell, he has scored 499 runs in three innings with an average of 249.51.At the close of play the Australians led Yorkshire by 165 runs on the first innings.

Scores:—

Yorkshire: 155.
Australians: 320.

Notts Beat Somerset.

Nottingham, Yesterday.

At Trent Bridge to-day Nottinghamshire defeated Somersetshire by an innings and 45 runs.Batting first, Notts scored 295 runs for the loss of 9 wickets, at which point the closure was applied.Somerset failed badly against the strong Midland attack, and were dismissed for 107 runs.
Following on, needing 189 runs to save an innings defeat, Somerset again fared badly, and were all out for 143 runs. This is Somerset's second defeat of the season and Notts' first victory.The match was very similar to the corresponding match at Trent Bridge last season. On that occasion Notts won by an innings and 10 runs. After scoring 255, they dismissed their opponents for scores of 80 and 165.

Scores:—

Notts: 295-9 (dec.).
Somerset: 107 and 143.

M.C.C. FOR INDIA.

Plea for Amateur Tourists.

London, April 21.

The M.C.C. have given their formal recognition to the Board of Control for Cricket in India, and arrangements are being made to send a team to India in the autumn.
The Board will be represented by
Mr. A. L. Hoad and Col. K. M.
Mistri at the Imperial Cricket Conference next month at Lord's.The Board suggests that the party should consist of 15 players, accompanied by a manager, and that in order to reduce costs the majority should be amateurs.Early this month the Board of Control for Cricket in India decided to suggest to the M.C.C. that the majority of the team to tour India, Burma and Ceylon next cold weather should, if possible, be amateurs, says the Rangoon Gazette.A sub-committee was appointed by the Board to deal with M.C.C.
matters, and to convey the suggestion to the M.C.C. that the team should consist of 15 players, so that the total complement with the manager would be 16.The view was expressed at that meeting of the Board that arrangements should be made for the professionals in the team to be put up all together at an hotel.The sub-committee considered that the suggestion should be acted upon because it would increase costs considerably and they deemed it advisable to convey the suggestion to the M.C.C. that if possible the number of professionals should be restricted.

BOXING.

"Revival" Bouts In Singapore.

CHAMPION KEEPS TITLE.

A fairly large crowd turned out recently at the New World, in Singapore, when an attempt was made to "revive" the sport. There were only two bouts of outstanding importance, Y. C. Song, feather and lightweight champion of Malaya, meeting Batling Guillermo of Manila, in the main event. L. S.
Fond, (Singapore), and Teddy Heng (Johore) met in the supporting item, and three other fights made up the card.The main bout was a nip and tuck affair, and although there was little in it Song rightly received the verdict. The announcement met with a mixed reception, but it seemed the general opinion that the decision was a correct one.Song set the pace for the first six rounds. The Filipino seemed to be holding back, but cut loose with a strong attack in the seventh, giving Song plenty to think about. Guillermo won the eighth and ninth,
although he ran into a forceful left to the jaw in the latter canto which somewhat cooled his ardour.The last round provided a great scrap, Guillermo chasing his opponent round the ring. He won the round, but Song's early lead proved too much, and the champion got the verdict.

A Game Scrapper.

Fond beat Heng after the best fight of the night. He had his man in a bad way at the end of the first round, and put him down in the second. Heng fought back splendidly in the next two rounds, when all had seemed lost, and actually won the fifth. Fond, however, boxed coolly in the remaining cantos to win comfortably on points. He punished Heng badly in the last round, but the latter finished very gamely, and was applauded for his plucky show.In other bouts Young Carlos k.
o. George Kim in 18 seconds, whilst Young Orchard hammered Young Kassim for 2 1/2 rounds, when the referee stopped the slaughter. In the final bout G. Morales was disqualified in the sixth for holding against Joe Lim.

BOXER KILLED.

Fatal Deafness Cure
Fails.San Francisco, Feb. 23.
In an effort to cure himself of deafness by rapid change of altitude
Fred ("Dummy") Mahan, the well-known welterweight boxer, was killed instantly to-day when he made an unsuccessful parachute jump from an aeroplane.Mahan fell 3,200 feet, while 7,000
spectators watched from Mills Field.
Attendants said that Mahan, who was not experienced in the use of a parachute, apparently pulled the release cord too quickly, in spite of instructions to count five after jumping.The parachute appeared to hit a stabiliser of the aeroplane, and failed to open.Mahan's affliction was catarrhal deafness, from which temporary relief is gained through a clearing of the eustachian tubes at high altitudes. Investigators say no permanent relief can be had by such means.

LAWN BOWLS.

Comments on the League Matches.

RAIN A KILL-JOY.

[By "Short Head."]

For the second Saturday in succession lawn bowlers were disturbed by the unpleasant weather conditions, a nasty drizzle coming down nearly all afternoon and rendering fine bowling out of the question. Although it was fortunate that not one game had to be postponed, still lawn bowls is by no means a wet day game: wet woods are good neither for the players nor for the greens themselves, some of which latter showed signs of wear and tear at the conclusion of the matches on Saturday.

Taikoo's First Win.

Taking the games in the order of the official programme Taikoo Recreation Club made no mistake in their meeting with the Police Club and romped home very easy winners, even exceeding their last season's "kill."Wotherspoon started off badly against Hargreaves, losing the first three heads, but thereafter the latter scored only five heads. The biggest score was a six by Wotherspoon on the concluding head.Against Wallace, West, who is considered the best Police skip this season, also drew first blood, but scored on only seven heads thereafter and was beaten by 23-11.Drummond opened his account against Post with 1, 1, 6, 3, but thereafter was held down to ones, with the exception of a couple of twos, conquering the Police rink
by only eight shots.Craigsgower to the Fore.
Whatever hopes the Kowloon Cricket Club had of winning against the Craigsgower Cricket Club at the Valley were rudely disrupted. Bradbury's rink went out to win from the first head and scored on the first 12 heads against Gibson's rink. Then the latter got a couple of twos, followed by two ones and a trio for Bradbury.
Gibson got five and lost on the last three heads, the score against him being 27-9.Omar's men drew first blood against Fraser and Co., scoring a 4 and a 2. Omar led 12-5 at the ninth head, but he lost ten on the succeeding five heads. A trio of ones came his way, to which Fraser said "ditto" and Omar got a couple on the 21st head, leaving him the loser by 18-17.On the third rink Basa opened with a three, Silkstone replying with a four. A couple of ones for Basa was followed by a couple of twos for Silkstone. Then Basa got 3, 3, and 2. Ding-dong play followed until the fifteenth head when Basa scored 1, 1, 3, 2, and
4. Silkstone won the last two heads with a 4 and a 1, but was down eight shots: 28-20.

Bowling Green Make Sure.

The Kowloon Bowling Green Club avenged their defeat last season by accounting for the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club on their own green.Whibley started poorly against W. M. Johnston, whom all old hands are glad to see taking up the game in earnest again. The latter led 17-7 at the 14th head, but scored only a couple of ones
thereafter as compared with two 4's, two 2's, and a one for Whibley, who secured the verdict by the narrow margin of 20-19. It was a fine recovery.Guy opened with a one against Sam Gray but after the latter was also credited with one, Guy scored a trio of threes. Following this his score was kept down to ones and twos, whereas Gray had a quartette of threes, and finished up one shot in arrears: 20-19.Holland, on the third rink, was opposed to Lapsley and opened his account with 2, 2, and 4. Lapsley could make little headway and was down 18-1 at the tenth head. He scored on six heads subsequently as against five heads for Holland, who ultimately won by 28-11.Club De Recreio v. C.S.C.C.

HARD HITTING.

MISS GOURLEY TRIUMPHS.

Formby, Lancs., Yesterday.
The greatest week in British golf began by an attack by 21
Americans, led by Glenna Collett, on the British Ladies' Championship, which America has never won. The result of to-day's first and second rounds is that only 12 Americans remain of the lead quartette. However, all were successful. Miss Collett beat Kitty Beard (Dorset) 3 up and 6 to play, whilst by "hard hitting," Helen Hicks made a fine recovery after being three down at the tenth hole and beat one of the strongest British players, Doris Chambers, by 3 and 1. Miss Maureen Orcutt beat
3, whilst Virginia Van Wie beat
Mrs. Gwynne (Rotherham) 5 and
3 whilst Virginia Van Wie beat
Mrs. Taylor (Colwyn Bay) 8 and 6.
The British favourites, Molly Cour-went down badly again.

Blackburn, who made the "possible" the previous Saturday against Craigsgower C.C., could score only one more in 21 heads, being beaten by Davidson's rink by 27-9. The latter's score included a 4 and a 5 (the latter on the 21st head).Drake (K.B.G.C.) scored on 11 heads against Jack and won by 23
-21, thanks mainly to scoring two 4's and a 5. Jack's biggest score was 3 (thrice).Roylance had Petheram as opponent and allowed the latter to score on only six heads, this including two 4's and a 3. Roylance got one 4 and two 3's, but ran out easy winner by 27-15.An Electric "Shock."
The Hong Kong Electric Company Recreation Club, accounted for the Craigsgower Cricket Club by only four shots, one less than their winning margin last season.Paul was opposed to Carr and,
although he scored on only eight heads he won the game by 24-18,
his score including two 5's and a 4. Paul got a 6 and a 4.The Hatch-Collins tussle was anybody's game right up to the last head, when Hatch won by 20-skip, but at the end of the 17th head he had scored only six 1's.

He collected on the last four heads,
but went down by 26-11.Owing to an inadvertent error

GOOD SPRINT.

Not Quite a World's Record.

RECORDS COMPARED.

Los Angeles, Yesterday. Frank Wykoff, the Olympic runner, was today officially timed over the 100 yards track. His time for the sprint was 9.2/5 secs, which, Reuter states, is a world's record.

For confirmation of this claim, reference has been made to the Daily Mail Year Book and Whitaker's Almanack, in both of which we find that J. Donaldson (Australia) ran the hundred yards in the better time of 9 3/4 secs, during an athletic meeting held at Johannesburg in 1910. Donaldson's time is 1/40th of a second better than that of Wykoff.

ATHLETES 'HELD-UP.'

Cross-Country Runners Assaulted.

An incident, almost without parallel in the history of cross-country running, marred the London Territorials' championship at Uxbridge in mid week, writes Clubman in the Sporting Life.

The three leading runners—Constable, Sutherland and Tebbutt—all well-known London club athletes, were, it is alleged, assaulted by a shepherd while endeavouring to get over a gate about a mile from the winning post.

The shepherd, it is alleged, was apparently lying in wait, and when Constable, a hundred yards in advance of the other pair, was about to run through, he slammed the gate shut, with the result that Constable was hurled against some barbed wire fencing, and badly cut.

By this time Sutherland and Tebbutt had come up, and all three endeavoured to climb over the gate, only to be met by the shepherd, who, according to Sutherland's statement, struck him over the head, meanwhile refusing to listen to any appeal for fair play.

Eventually a race official prevailed on the man to let the runners carry on, but a race between the first three was out of the question, and they finished abreast.

The three cups put up by the Territorial Association were awarded on the spin of a coin, and by the luck of the toss Constable gained the trophy for the third man, after having had the race won all the way!

The Territorial authorities, it is understood, are making a full inquiry, and the result will be awaited with keen interest.

LORD DERBY.

To See the Kentucky Derby.

The news that Lord Derby is going to be present this year at the Kentucky Derby has greatly interested Americans in London. The Kentucky Derby is the chief flat race for horses in America and one of the oldest. It was established in 1875. The distance is a mile and a quarter, and the race is for three-year-olds. It is run on Churchill Downs, Louisville, Kentucky.

Our American visitors are usually surprised by the fact that the Derby is not run in Derby—indeed it is believed that every year a certain number of them turn up at Derby Station on the day—and they point with some satisfaction to the fact that the Kentucky Derby is really run in Kentucky. It is run on May 17 and is a big social event as well as a racing one. Presidents of the Republic have attended it and candidates for the Presidency, including Mr. "Al" Smith. People go from all over the United States, and it is the big betting day in America, just as the Derby is in Britain. The system on the racecourse is the

Great Britain Go Ahead in Competition.

POLAND ELIMINATED.

Torquay, Yesterday. In the second round (European Zone) of the Davis Cup to-day Great Britain eliminated Poland by three matches to nil.

Yesterday H. G. N. Lee (Great Britain) defeated Toczyski (Poland) 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. Rain then caused play to be abandoned.

To-day a singles and a doubles match were decided in favour of Britain, thus sending her into the third round.

N. Sharpe beat Stolarow 6-3, 6-4, 6-1; and J. C. Gregory and J. G. Collins defeated Toczyski and Warminski in the most surprising and convincing manner, not losing a single game in the three sets.—Reuter.

ARREST OF GANDHI'S SUCCESSOR.

some of the tribesmen of the Tochi District. Several tribal chiefs, however, have made loyal offers of service. Measures are being taken to stop the dissemination of subversive propaganda in the villages. Local administration is prepared to deal locally with the situation.

Civil Disobedience. The Indian Government's telegram continues, "The Civil Disobedience movement has obtained little success in the rural areas, except in Gujarat, where the personal influence of Gandhi is strong. Activities there have been largely directed towards the boycott of Government servants and the resignation of village officials. Non-payment of land revenue is also being encouraged. It is hoped that an improvement of the situation in this area will result from Gandhi's arrest."

Previous to the issue of the Ordinance a prominent feature of the Civil Disobedience movement was the use of a portion of the Press for the abuse of Government and its officers, and an incitement to violence and revolutionary crime and an encouragement to defiance of the law. The Ordinance, while placing no restriction on the just liberties of the Press, is intended to prevent its use for the above purposes and has already had a salutary effect. Organized attempts are now being made to spread malicious and alarmist rumours, and until the public have learnt by experience that they are totally unworthy of credence the tendency will be to maintain a state of excitement in the towns. Many of the reports appear to be calculated with the definite aim of encouraging violent revolution. Measures are being taken to deal with this development.

Muslims Keep Away. In spite of efforts made by deliberate misrepresentations and otherwise to involve Muhammadans in the movement, the community as a whole has refused to join it and prefers to rely for the political advance and protection of its own interests in constitutional methods. The Council of the All-India Muslim Federation has just passed a resolution disapproving of the civil disobedience movement as detrimental and injurious to the best interests of the Muslim community and advising Muslims to keep themselves aloof.

The general situation at present is well under control and the resources of Government are fully organized to resist the force of lawlessness and disorder.

Supplementary to the general review, Capt. Wedgwood Benn stated in the House of Commons that at Sholapur, the scene of the terrible outbreak last week, the situation had been somewhat better since Saturday evening.—British Wireless Service.

Earlier News.

Bombay, Yesterday. Abbas Tyabji, and all his volunteers, were arrested as soon as they set out on their march to raid the salt works at Dharasana.

"Keep the Flag Flying."

Bombay, later. Fifty-nine volunteers, with the octogenarian Molsen leader Abbas Tyabji, set out this morning from Karadi, after Mrs. Gandhi had besmeared their foreheads with the sacred saffron, which is used in invoking a blessing. They encountered a large force of armed police who carried out the arrest at Navsari.

Last night, Tyabji anticipating arrest, sent a message to the nation saying: "There will be no peace till freedom is won. Keep the flag flying."

A special train has left for Sholapur with the whole of the Second Battalion of the Royal Ulster Rifles, who have been sent at the request of the District Magistrate of Sholapur, where partisans of civil disobedience continue to play hide and seek with the military.—Reuter.

BRUTAL ATTACK.

Police Version Told in Court.

EMPLOYEE CHARGED.

The brutal attack on Mr. Wong Lai-woo, accountant of the Chinese branch office of the China Navigation Co., at 3, Des Voeux Road West, early on April 21, had its sequel before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

Chung Wing, described as an employee of the Company, was charged on two counts as follows: (1) robbing a safe of $9,833, and making a murderous assault on Mr. Wong; and (2) causing grievous bodily harm to Mr. Wong. Mr. Wong was found on his campbed with severe injuries, and the safe was rifled, $9,833 being removed from it. A search, however, resulted in the discovery of the money, intact, in three envelopes, lying in different places, together with a safe key. Apparently the money had been left behind by the assailant who must have been frightened by the seriousness of his action and hastily decamped.

A foki who also slept on the premises was awakened by the shouts of Mr. Wong. He admitted a Shantung constable and together they found Mr. Wong in the office on the first floor. Soon after two Indian constables arrived. No one saw any person leave the premises. Police Headquarters were communicated with and Sergt. Macdonald had Mr. Wong removed to hospital. Later Inspector Shannon arrived to take charge of investigations, and was handed the blood-stained chopper by Sergt. Macdonald.

Insp. Shannon had the finger prints of all the employees, 17 men, including accused and his uncle, taken at Headquarters. At 1 p.m., Insp. Vincent, in charge of the Finger Print Department, reported on the prints which he had compared with those he found on the envelopes containing the money, to the effect that the prints were similar in one case. This happened to be the finger prints of the accused.

Mr. Wong said that whilst he was not prepared to say definitely that accused was his assailant, he alleged that he looked very much like him.

The evidence of Mr. Wong was taken. He said, in reply to the Magistrate that his recognition of his assailant was between "70 and 80 per cent."

The case will continue this afternoon.

Have You Heard?

Woman: "My husband was in an awful stew at dinner time. He said the pudding weren't fit for a dog to eat, and if he couldn't cook better than that, he'd eat his hat."

Friend: "What happened then?"

Woman: "Why, his hat's gone!"

The family were sitting down to their first breakfast at home after their return from the annual sojourn by the briny. "Ah!" quoth paterfamilias, with a sigh of content, "thank goodness, we've finished with this confounded seaside business for a year at least. Now at last, perhaps, Mabel, we shall be quit of that young puppy Saphend, who has been dangling around you every minute for a month past."

"Papa," retorted Mabel, severely, "I must request you not to refer to Mr. Saphend in such contemptuous terms."

"How's that?" inquired paterfamilias.

"Because we are engaged."

"Are you indeed? Well, he's a bit of an improvement on that weak-kneed idiot Mivins, or that ineffable jackass Bilger, anyhow."

"Papa," replied Mabel, with increased asperity, "I really must ask you not to allude again in such disparaging terms to either Mr. Mivins or Mr. Bilger!"

"Really? Why not?"

"Because I'm engaged to both of them as well!"

Landlord: "William, you know that you are four pounds in arrears in rent."

William: "Yes, sir, I do, but I cannot pay this month."

Landlord: "William, I don't like to be hard on you. I will forget two of them."

William: "Very well, sir, and I will forget the other two."

They were talking on the pavement when the doctor passed in his new car.

"The doctor seems to be blossoming forth," remarked Browne.

"Yes," replied Greene. "Since he began specialising in diseases of the obese, he has been living on the fat of the land!"

The extravagant wife appeared before her husband with one of the latest "creations" on her head.

"It's a sin to wear an expensive hat in these critical times," he exclaimed.

"Never mind, dear," she sweetly replied, "the sin will be on my own head."

SIR CECIL CLEMENTI'S VISIT TO PERLIS.

TREATY SIGNED WITH GOLDEN PEN.

READ TO THE PEOPLE.

His Excellency Sir Cecil Clementi's first visit to Perlis on the morning of April 28 will be specially remembered in the history of the State, for the occasion was marked by the signing of a Treaty defining the friendly relations between His Britannic Majesty and the Raja of Perlis.

Shortly after 9 o'clock, His Excellency left the Residency at Kangar with the British Adviser (Mr. L. A. Allen) and proceeded to Arau, where he was received by His Highness the Raja and the members of the State Council. A guard of honour was furnished by the local police and boy scouts lined the path between an arch of welcome and the Balai Penghadapan. The Balai itself was gaily decorated with flags, and, to help mark the importance of the occasion, a number of elephants belonging to some of the Chiefs were drawn up in imposing rank close by. In the Balai the scene had been set for the signing of the Treaty. On a table lay a gold pen and the documents awaiting signature, while above the table hung a

"We are very happy to have the opportunity of welcoming Your Excellency on the occasion of your visit to Perlis."

"It was with feelings of exceeding great pleasure and happiness that we heard the news that Your Excellency, who was then in Hong Kong, had been chosen by His Majesty the King to be Governor of the Straits Settlements and High Commissioner for the Malay States in succession to Sir Hugh Clifford. The news of Your Excellency's appointment was additionally welcome to us all because of Your Excellency's wide experience, and because also of Your Excellency's knowledge of the Chinese language and customs which we consider is most fortunate; for although Perlis is small in size, it numbers many Chinese amongst its population, and further it is the Chinese who are largely responsible for the trading activity in this State which is now being carried on between them and the other races under peaceful and friendly conditions."

"We hope that it may be possible, through the assistance of Your Excellency during Your Excellency's term of office to record further progress throughout Malaya; and we feel sure that Your Excellency's administration will not fail to be in the best interest of the country."

proving the yield from your paddy fields with the help of the scientific advice which the Department of Agriculture will gladly place at your disposal."

"To-day is an important occasion in the history of Perlis, for a Treaty has this morning been signed between His Majesty King George, whose representative I am, and His Highness the Raja of this State. Already, for nearly twenty-one years, there has been a British Adviser, stationed in Perlis and friendly relations have always existed between this State and the British Government; but it is only to-day that this friendship has, for the first time, been defined in the form of a Treaty. I sincerely hope that this outward and visible manifestation of the spirit of friendly co-operation which exists between His Majesty's Government and the State of Perlis may lead your country to further progress along the paths of peace and prosperity. I shall watch your future with great interest and with every desire to assist you to the best of my ability."

The proceedings concluded by the introduction to His Excellency of the Senior Malay officials and certain unofficial representatives of the various communities in the State. After a group photograph had been taken outside the Balai, His Excellency left for Kangar; and later proceeded in a launch from Teluk Tenggol on route to the Langkawi Islands.—Malay Mail.

MR. BOTTOMLEY'S INSOLVENCY.

OFFICIAL RECEIVER AND "A NEW REASON." PREVIOUS FAILURES.

Mr. Horatio Bottomley attended for his public examination before Mr. Registrar Warrington, at the London Bankruptcy Court. He was described as a journalist, of Grosvenor-gardens, S.W.

His amended statement of affairs showed liabilities of £116,769, of which £115,899 were unsecured, and estimated assets of £1,000, apart from two book debts of the face value of £11,500, the realisable value of which was very uncertain.

Of the liabilities £109,984 were returned as due to the trustee in the 1922 bankruptcy proceedings, being in respect of the unsatisfied balance of debts according to the proof of debt.

Questioned by Mr. Waterer, the Deputy Official Receiver, Mr. Bottomley said that he had failed on three previous occasions, but on the first two the receiving orders were rescinded, and the adjudications were annulled, the debts being paid in full. Regarding the third occasion, he said that he had been engaged as editor and editorial adviser, and he was ad-made for its compulsory winding up. At that date the company's books showed that it owed him about £15,000.

Figure of £1,250. On certain figures being put to him by the Deputy Official Receiver, Mr. Bottomley said that if these were correct they would seem to show that he had had out of the company about as much as he had put into it, and that all that he had lost was £1,250. "But," he added, "£1,250 in these days is something to me."

He did not say, however, that the figures put by the Deputy Official Receiver were correct. He was not responsible for them and had not checked them. He (Mr. Bottomley) would have to investigate the matter. He had since remembered something and that he had paid considerable sums back to people who said that they had suffered over the Victory Bond Club. He also spent money in restoring things on his wife's estate when he returned home.

Mr. Waterer: Do you agree that you will have to find a new reason for your insolvency?

Mr. Bottomley said that he must look into the matter. Considerable sums were paid to him direct for shares in the Phoenix Press.

On the Deputy Official Receiver's application, the examination was adjourned until May 21.

Mr. Bottomley: In the meantime I will amend my deficiency account

Stone-Boat of Wanshowshan.—In Lake Kunmin, at the foot of Wanshowshan Hill, lies, as if afloat on the water, a boat, made of marble, bearing a painful all. This is the famous Stone-Boat of Wanshowshan, which is said to have been used by Empress Dowager Tzu Hsi as the banquet hall in the powerful days of the Ching Dynasty. Times have changed, however, and since the downfall of the Manchus, this remains as a monument only to tell of past glories.

portrait of His Majesty the King draped on either side with the Union Jack and the State flag of Perlis. On entering the Balai, His Excellency proceeded to the table and signed the six copies of the Treaty, three being printed in English and three in Malay script. His Excellency was then followed by His Highness the Raja and finally the treaty was completed by the signatures of two witnesses on either side and by the respective seals of His Excellency and the Raja.

The signing of the treaty was then announced to those outside the Balai and the text of it was read aloud from the Balai steps by the Chief Magistrate, Haji Ahmad.

The Raja then thanked His Excellency for coming to Perlis and said what pleasure it had given him and the people of the State that the signing of the treaty had taken place in Perlis itself. As a memento of the occasion the Raja presented His Excellency with the gold pen used that morning.

A deputation then entered the Balai and an address was presented in a silver casket to His Excellency on behalf of the members of the Ruler's family, the Government Officers and the people of all races in the State. The address, which was read in Malay by Tuan Syed Hussein, a brother of the Raja, and in English by Che Matt, the Chief of Police, was as follows:—

"To His Excellency the High Commissioner,

Sir Cecil Clementi, K.C.M.G.

"We, the members of the Ruler's family, the Government Officers and the people of all races in Perlis present this address to Your Excellency.

"We trust under Your Excellency's wise administration the State of Perlis will develop and enjoy peace and prosperity."

"In conclusion we pray that Your Excellency's term of office in Malaya may be prolonged so that we may experience the benefits of your administration, and that God will bless Your Excellency with good health and happiness."

His Excellency's Reply.

His Excellency replied in English, his speech being interpreted into Malay by the British Adviser. His Excellency said:—

"I thank the members of the Ruler's family, the Government officers and the people of all races in Perlis for their address of welcome on the occasion of my first visit to the State."

"I am very pleased to see that here, as elsewhere in Malaya, the people of all races and creeds are living contentedly together and are trading with one another under peaceful and friendly conditions. You tell me that the Chinese are largely responsible for the trading activity in Perlis and I shall, of course, take a special interest in matters affecting the Chinese no less than in the welfare of the other races which inhabit this State."

"I am most gratified to learn that, during the past year, the Perlis Government has paid off in full the loans borrowed from the Federated Malay States, so that you are now in the fortunate position of having no public debt. Perlis also enjoys the position of being one of the few States in Malaya which export rice, and I hope that you will endeavour to increase rice cultivation and by im-

Keep Him Happy And Well.

Your child's happiness and regular progress are dependent upon his sustenance in good health. With you rests this responsibility. The chief factors of health in the very young are sound digestion and internal cleanliness. It is from defective stomach and bowel action that most infantile troubles arise.

The wise physician who devised the formula of which are compounded had in mind the provision of a specific which can be administered with perfect safety by parents in such emergencies. There is nothing equal to these pleasant tasting, little Tablets for the prompt correction of infantile indigestion, constipation, colic, to allay simple fever and teething pains, to check diarrhoea, ease cold and croup, and to expel worms.

Chemists everywhere sell Baby's Own Tablets, 60 cents per vial.

judged bankrupt on August 4, 1922. He was told that his ranking liabilities then were £90,000 odd, and his assets £28,928.

Journalistic Earnings.

Mr. Bottomley said that his examination on that occasion was not technically concluded, and he was not in a position to apply for his discharge. He came out of Maidstone Gaol in July, 1927, and began as a free-lance journalist, earning in that way up to March, 1928, about £12,000. Out of that sum he paid to the trustee in the 1922 failure a sum of £3,280 under arrangement with the Court. He also published two books.

Mr. Waterer: What were they? Mr. Bottomley: "Songs of the Soul," and the other had a somewhat unique title, "Humours of Prison Life." I lost money over them—approximately a few hundred pounds.

During 1928 and 1929, added Mr. Bottomley, he obtained about £5,000 from various newspapers for libel. He also obtained judgment against Mr. H. J. Houston for £1,500 in a libel action, but had received nothing.

In 1928 he registered a private company, the Phoenix Press Company, to run a new weekly journal, John Blunt. As promoter various shares were allotted to him under the registered agreement. He also became editor of the company's periodicals, his salary being contingent on profits, but no profits were made. Certain of the shares were allotted to nominees. From time to time he financed the company out of his journalistic earnings and libel damages.

The company had insufficient working capital to be a success, and in October, 1929, an order was after consulting the Official Receiver and the companies in liquidation.

Mr. Registrar Warrington: Yes. You want to find out how much the Phoenix Press owe you.

AN OBSOLETE SET.

How An Amateur Can Modernise It.

When reading the announcements of the radio industry many an "old" radio lover will become envious; they tell of up-to-date apparatus which can be operated without the bugbear of renewing and recharging batteries and accumulators, which work at a single movement and are as simple as any other electrical apparatus for household use. Well, many will compare such an apparatus with their own time-honoured sets and often this comparison will be to the disadvantage of the latter.

It is a fine thing to modernise your old apparatus; it requires however, a profound knowledge of radio engineering, of which most people cannot boast. But the non-expert need not despair; though he may be unable to feed his receiving set solely from the lighting mains, that is say, without any special apparatus for voltage supply, he can nevertheless do a great deal towards modernising his set by avoiding the trouble of renewing the anode battery and taking the heavy accumulator along to a charging station. For this purpose all that is required is a trickle-charger and a high tension supply unit.

Some readers may be inclined to get nervous about these technical terms. But they should read on, for they will find that these names refer to perfectly harmless instruments which are even less technical than the old, familiar filament accumulator. The trickle charger and H. T. Supply unit can be switched on as easily as batteries; they are connected to the receiver and accumulator and are fed from the electric lighting mains. Renewals such as were formerly necessary with anode batteries are no longer required, as the anode voltage is supplied by the mains. The trickle charger has a change-over switch with two positions. In the right-hand position the receiver is operating, in the left-hand position the receiver is switched off and the accumulator is recharged during the time the set is not working. This is the only manipulation required for switching the receiving set on and off.

In this way the receiving installation is much easier to operate than in former days. The trickle charger takes care of the recharging of your accumulator, and the H.T. supply unit supplies the anode voltage from the lighting mains.

A trickle charger is distinguished from the ordinary accumulator chargers by its exceedingly low current consumption of only 170 milliamperes. The Americans were right in calling this kind of charger the "trickle charger," as it only recharges the accumulator with the very small amount of current which has been consumed during the hours of radio reception. A small accumulator of low capacity will therefore be found sufficient if a trickle charger is used for recharging. In this way the accumulator is spared, as it cannot be over-charged on account of the small charging rate and therefore cannot get damaged as is often the case when ordinary chargers are used; no longer is it necessary to check the charging current by means of a voltmeter or ammeter.

The other voltages required for the set, anode voltage and grid bias, are derived from the H.T. supply unit. This must be of perfect construction, as otherwise A.C. hum may be heard, a highly annoying sound which interferes with reception.

The combination H.T. supply unit and trickle charger is for owners of old type sets decidedly the best solution of the problem of A.C. mains connection, offering the advantage of greatly simplified operation and eliminating the necessity of supervising or altering installation.

Even D. C. lighting mains can be used for the receiver if an H.T. supply unit is employed which supplies the anode voltage required for operation.

This modernisation of your receiver not only simplifies the set, but also improves the quality of the music received, as the anode voltage of the H.T. supply units as marketed by Philips is about 150 volts; this voltage is much higher and therefore better than that of most anode such as is bound to occur with anode batteries; moreover, loss of voltage batteries is entirely eliminated by using H.T. supply units.

Therefore, the "connection to mains" of old-fashioned receiving sets is not so difficult as you thought. You need not even open the cover of the set to make any alterations. You can keep pace with the times and modernise your receiver without having to make a profound study of technical literature.

If you will only carry out this modernisation, you need no longer envy the owners of up-to-date receiving sets; your old set will also become an "all-mains" receiver!

BROKEN ROMANCE.

Man Who Eloped with Wife &amp; "Loud-Speaker."

"Love may laugh at locksmiths," but not at wireless, as a man who eloped with his employer's wife discovered to his cost.

A Paris wireless dealer's employee recently despatched with the dealer's wife, 150,000 francs and a portable wireless set. The dealer promptly had an announcement broadcast by wireless that he would not be responsible for the debts of his wife who had disappeared with his money, and that he was lodging a complaint for theft.

The guilty pair meanwhile had fled to Toulouse and opened the portable set with the idea of hearing music whereby to inspire their romance. They were dumbfounded to hear the dealer's announcement and realised that the police were on their track. Panic-stricken, they returned to Paris, where they were discovered.

The dealer prosecuted his wife's lover who was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for receiving stolen goods.

POWER BY WIRELESS.

The daily Press devoted quite a large amount of space some weeks ago to this interesting subject. When the newspaper editor calls on his chief descriptive reporter to write up a story on wireless, the technical man is never astonished, he is only amused, at the extraordinary statements that often appear.

In this instance a wireless signal was transmitted from a yacht in the Mediterranean, picked up in Australia, and when amplified served to operate a relay, which in turn switched on the lights in a Sydney exhibition. Readers were told that the yacht supplied the power needed for lighting the exhibition, and another writer described the incident as a wonderful demonstration of the transmission of power! The old hand will tell you it was nothing of the kind.

Many years have passed since amateurs demonstrated the possibility of sending signals on the very short waves from Britain to Australia, and as regards the transmission of electric power without wires there is no evidence available that gives any hope of this possibility being achieved either in the near or distant future.

CHINA DELEGATION TO MOSCOW.

TWO FULL CAR LOADS OF FOOD TAKEN BY DELEGATES.

PILES OF DOCUMENTS.

Harbin, May 3.

The Chinese delegation to the Moscow Conference, consisting of twenty-one, took along with them two full car loads of food, this being thought sufficient to last the delegation for a period of three months, being the time necessary for the conclusion of the meeting. The delegation also took along two motor cars for their use while in the Soviet capital. In addition to the other supplies there also was practically a car load of documents, maps and reports for the use of the delegation.

In spite of a driving rain there were several hundred Chinese and a considerable number of Russians at the railway station to bid the Chinese delegation farewell and wish them success at the forthcoming conference, now scheduled to open on May 15. The Chinese delegates and assistants expect to arrive in Moscow on May 9. The Soviet management of the C.E.R. also sent along a delegation of officials who are expected to assist the Soviet Government in the discussions.

The departure of the Chinese delegation was saddened by the death of Mrs. Mo Teh-hui, the wife of the chief of the Chinese delegation, which occurred two days ago. At first it was thought Mr. Mo might delay his departure for a few days but at the last moment he decided to accompany the other Chinese delegates and left on the train at 10.30 o'clock on the morning of the 1st. Mr. Mo delivered a brief speech from the train thanking those who had come to the station to see him off and expressed a sincere hope for the success of the conference.

Arrival at Moscow.

The Chinese delegate Mo Teh-hui arrived at Moscow on May 9 at 10 o'clock.

[A cable by Reuter on May 4 stated: The Kuomin semi-official news agency states that in consequence of the great loss suffered by the Customs revenue owing to increased smuggling between Hong Kong and ports in Kwangtung province, Mr. F. W. Maze, the Inspector-General, has again been instructed to proceed to Hong Kong, investigate conditions, and endeavour to arrange the ratification of the Customs Agreement which Mr. Maze drew up last year while in Hong Kong, but which "the Hong Kong Government refused to ratify on the surprising ground that China declined to permit Hong Kong steamers to trade under inland waters rules."]
